MRS. MABEL H. CURTIS OLD RESIDENT DIES IN LOCAL HOSPITAL JULY 12

The body of Mrs. Mabel Hale Curtiss was laid to rest Monday. She succumbed to a cerebral hemhorrage July 12 in a local hospital. Widow of the late Dr. W. H. Curtiss, who practiced in Ocean Beach for several years before his death, Mrs. Curtiss was well known here as a charter member of the Point Loma Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star and as a leader in social affairs. For the past few years she had been a resident of San Diego.

Born in Newcastle, Pa., she came to California in 1912. The funeral arrangements were made by Lewis Colonial funeral home in San Diego.

MEET YOUR OCEAN BEACH NEIGHBORS

Our candidate for the Neighbor column this week is Dr. Seymour Kuntz, popular local optometrist and director of the Ocean Beach Lions club. He was born Feb. 22 (seems like a familiar date), 1918, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Kuntz of Chicago. After graduating from the public schools in Chicago, Seymour attended George Williams Junior College and Woodrow Wilson Junior College in Chicago. He later enrolled in the North Illinois College of Optometry in Chicago, from which he graduated in June, 1940.

The new optometrist practiced in Chicago and in East St. Louis for a year before enlisting in the army. He served in the anti-aircraft medical corps and was later attached to the air corps. He was stationed in North Carolina, Barstow and March Field in California. At March the doctor gave eye examinations to, according to him, "about 20,000 cadets".

In September, 1944, Seymour was shipped to New Guinea, where he was attached to the 51st General Hospital eye clinic. Later he was transferred to Manila, in the Philippines. In December, 1945, he was sent back to the States, receiving his discharge on Dec. 23.

After a month's course in contact lenses in Chicago, Dr. Kuntz came west. He considered starting his practice in Los Angeles, but a visit to Ocean Beach convinced him that this was "the place". The doctor is now one of our greatest Beach boosters and we're proud to have him aboard.

(Studio of the Cliffs)

In between gazing into his patients' eyes the doctor finds time to play tennis, swim and do amateur photography work. He is also active in the American Optometric Association. He has been instrumental in the Ocean Beach Lions Club's "Eye Bank for Sight Restoration" program, and is chairman of that organization's sight conservation committee.

OCEAN BEACH GIRL, 17, HURT IN SURF DIVING

Joanne Bassett, 17, of 1862 Cable St., was injured Friday when she dived in shallow surf at the local beach. She suffered dislocated vertebrae, and was taken to the County Hospital for treatment. She is now recuperating at home.

Lions Hear Talk On Switzerland By San Diego Architect

The Ocean Beach Lions Club heard a travel talk at the Thursday meeting, July 11, by their guest of honor, Louis Bodmer, San Diego architect, who recently returned from a trip to his native Switzerland. Mr. Bodmer illustrated his talk with colored slides showing mountain scenes and skiers, as well as the outstanding architectual features of the country. The buildings at Berne were particularly impressive.

This was the first meeting following installation of officers for the club, with new President Bob Stevenson presiding. There was no meeting the previous week because of the holidays.

Besides Mr. Bodmer, guests were S. S. Stein of Sierra Madeira, G. N. Ferguson of the El Cajon den, Vernon La Rose of San Francisco, and Frank Schmidt of Ocean Beach, who is a member of the San Diego police force. Lion of the Week was Dr. Seymour Kuntz.

Norma Finds Each City Visited Has All Its Own Odor

June 23, 1947
Mobile, Ala.

Boy does that head wind hold me back! Perhaps the clouds it carries are worth the extra effort it causes me. Which is worse—traveling at a near sun-stroke temperature in the sun or using up twice as much energy for half the distance in the wind and shade? Hard to tell?

My things are on the long screen porch of a house a block down the highway from this cafe where I'm having my dinner.

I never fully realized how unique my travels seem to other people until this evening. Because of the heavy rain clouds and mosquitoes I watched for a house with a screen porch. The first door I knocked on was opened by a little white haired lady who politely waited until I'd finished one sentence before saying a very positive "No." The house next to hers had a porch down two sides. I questioned the small, house-wife-ish looking wo-

The Beachcomber

Seen: Spanking new cash register at Faber's Grocery. . . . Workmen making an eyesore out of corner of Newport and Sunset Cliffs by cutting down the eucalyptus trees by the school grounds—the city park officials assure us that this was a necessary step because the trees were "a definite hazard, were about ready to fall, were dying anyway," and they clinched the defense with the promise to plant some flowering trees on the site "right away" . . . Elegant big dahlias, one measuring over 8 inches across, brought into The News office by Mrs. James E. Hollycross of 4475 Niagara. She reports that credit for the colossal blooms goes to Mr. H., who spends his off hours encouraging his flowers. . . . The beach looking like heck Monday afternoon, with kelp galore. We must nevertheless send a small bouquet to the city administration for doing a better job of beach-cleaning this year than in the past. . . . Virgil's windows getting more colorful each week. Looks like he's going to have to install a skylight if Fred keeps throwing paint on the windows. . . . Roy Riner supervising the extensive remodeling going on at his Silver Spray Hotel.

Heard: Reports of a high-stake bowling duel Monday night between Bert Stratton and Perry Black. . . . Much discussion about the controversial Newport parking question.

Bouquet of the Week: To the five boys and one girl, all members of the Bethany Lutheran Church Junior League, who did such an excellent job of distributing the News on July 4. Also thanks to Rev. Martin Lankow for his cooperation.

FOUR OCEAN BEACH BOYS TO RACE IN S. D. SOAP BOX DERBY JULY 26

Four Ocean Beach boys passed qualification tests Wednesday permitting them to enter the San Diego Soap Box Derby to be held July 26. The four boys were Donald Lee Bobby, winner of the Ocean Beach Crackerbox Derby last month; Gordon Jennings; Bob Lechien, and Joe Aubrey. The boys used the same racers constructed for the Ocean Beach contest, as the local rules were identical to those applying to the downtown contest. Young Leith also plans to enter his racer in the Derby although he did not attend the Wednesday tests.

Retail Sales 17 Percent Ahead of 1946, Says Speaker

Retail sales are 17 percent ahead of last year, Walter McAdams of San Diego, creator of the McAdams System of selling and advertising, told the Kiwanis club Tuesday night, and San Diego is 10 percent ahead of normal population growth, he said. His talk was on "Salesmanship," and he was introduced by Harry Masters, program chairman for the evening.

"The future sales potential is very good here," he said. Other highlights of his talk were:

"Courtesy is one of the greatest assets that you can put into your selling endeavor.

"Never cut a price, never knock a competitor, never break a promise.

"To get results an adv. must create attention, interest, desire and action, on the part of the reader. It's not the fault of the newspaper if you write a lousy adv.

"Goods are sold 85 percent on emotional appeal."

Next Tuesday's meeting will be a picnic, with the Kiwani-Annes as guests of the club, the event to be held on Mission bay beach below Glenn's Drive-In. All members and wives, however, are to meet first at the Wallace hall by 6:30.

Legion Auxiliary Installs Officers

(By Myrtle Orrick)

Clyde A. Wright, Unit 433, American Legion Auxiliary held "open house" at the installation of officers Thursday, July 17, in the Woman's Clubhouse. Gifts were exchanged and the Unit presented Mary Fold with her pin, as she now joins the ranks of the past presidents.

The officers installed for the coming year were: Florence Allen, president; Winnefred Dahlheim, first vice-president; Barbara Bois, second vice-president; Della Hodges, secretary-treasurer; June Andersen, chaplain; Myrtle Orrick, historian; Jo-Ann Duvall, sergeant-at-arms; and Alpha Rowe, exevutive woman.

President Florence Allen appointed the chairmen of the various committees who will carry on the American Legion Auxiliary program under her supervision for the coming term. The appointments were: Rehabilitation, Barbara Bois; Child Welfare, Myrtle Orrick; Poppies, Della Hodges; Americanism, Mable Lis; Membership, Winnefred Dahlheim; Community Service, June Andresen; National Defense, Lorrene Brown; Legislation, Jo Ann Duvall; Publicity, Gordene Loy; and the two appointed executive women were Dawn Woodruff and Gordene Loy.

"The change of officers brought to a close a very worthy year's work and also makes this the last publicity item to be written by yours truly. It has been a pleasure to outline the program our American Legion Auxiliary carries through, and I know the readers here have looked forward to the Unit column because many friends have "told me so". We thank everyone for showing an interest in what the Unit has been doing. Through the courtesy of The News, Unit 433 will have a large press clipping book to enter at the coming state convention of the American Legion Auxiliary in September at Los Angeles.

"I wish to publicly thank the staff and editors of the Ocean Beach News for their indulgence in this amateur reporter's items which have covered over 200 inches of type this year.

"The new publicity chairman for the Unit will continue with this news column."

Two Letters On Parking Question Received In Week

Two letters were received during the past week by The News and the Chamber of Commerce bearing on the question of diagonal vs. parallel parking on Newport Ave. The first is from Mrs. James W. Kerr, a Niagara Ave. property owner, who writes as follows:

Saturday, July 12, 1947
Ocean Beach Merchants
Dear Sirs:

The idea of parallel parking seems perfectly ridiculeous at this time when it is difficult to find a parking place anywhere. Parallel parking would cut the number of cars possible to park almost in half.

What the merchants should do is to arrange for parking space for their employes and themselves as well as some of their patrons.

We own property on Niagara near Bacon, and since the two

ELEVEN BOY SCOUTS OF TROOP 28 IN CAMP MILE FROM CUYAMACA LAKE

Members of Boy Scout troop 28 totaling 11 left Ocean Beach July 13 for a week's summer camp at the San Diego Area Boy Scout camp Hual-Cu-cuish, located about a mile from Cuyamaca Lake. Their leader Bob Allen, assistant scoutmaster of troop 28, will prepare them for tests required for advancement in rank and also instruct them in crafts such as leather work, wood work, pioneering and mapping.

The boys attending camp this week are: Howard Mayfield, Robert Plant, Burt Skinner, Donald Vose, Ramon Vose, Eugene Blair, John Steveson, Peter Steveson, Bob Northern, Donald Vedder and Michael Horvath.

Lifeguards Rescue Five From Waves

Despite repeated safety warnings concerning surf hazards, several youngsters' lives were endangered Sunday July 13 at the local beach and required the aid of the lifeguards.

They were: Elizabeth Peterson, 9, of 4668 Cape May; Yoland Kelsa, 11, of 4615 Coronado; Geoffrey Hancock, 8, of Holiday Camp on Niagara Ave.; Margaret Parker, 14, of 4879 Del Mar; and Pearl Johnson, 15, of 4447 Brighton.

Lifeguards Penwarden, Edens, Fischer and Kowal performed the rescues.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sirs:

Ninety percent of the people work in San Diego that live in Ocean Beach. There are numerous shopping centers between here and town, and if they make the parking problem so difficult, most of us will just do our shopping on the way out as we can drive right in and jump out, run in and quickly do our shopping. But in parallel parking it will take care of such a few cars that by the time you drive around a few blocks it's too much trouble, when you are on your way home from work and always in a hurry. So my advice is make the parking as simple as possible. Also the two hour limit is too long in such a small community.

Fearn Cook

Mrs. Charles Allen left for San Francisco July 11 to visit her daughter and son-in-law and to bring her granddaughter Joyce Vanderpool home with her for a summer vacation at Ocean Beach so that she might enjoy the youth activities at our community recreation center.

Mrs. H. R. Rubish (the former Margaret Wintergrest) returned to Ocean Beach last week for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Mae Wintergrest of 4978 Muir Ave. With her from their home in Burbank, Calif. came her two children, Harley Eugene, 6, and Sharon Dianne, 3. The party was joined later by Mr. Rubish and the family enjoyed a visit to the county fair at Del Mar July 13.

CABRILLO MONUMENT RETURNS TO NATIONAL PARK JURISDICTION

The Cabrillo Monument and old Spanish Lighthouse on the tip of Point Loma, were turned back to the National Park Service on July 1. The monument has been closed since June, 1941, because of its location on a military reservation. Clifton Rock, representative of the National Park Service, reported that the monument is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. seven days a week. Hostess at the lighthouse is Mrs. Jessie V. Macbeth.

The dedication of the national monument took place in 1913, marking as a national shrine the spot where Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo, Portuguese explorer, landed on Ballast Point Sept 28, 1542, thus discovering California.

The view from the Point is classed as one of the six finest harbor vistas in the world. One can see not only the entire bay from the monument, but also the inland mountains, Mexico and the Coronado Islands.

evening, a straw vote showed 18 for parallel and 16 for diagonal parking. At the July general meeting of the Chamber of Commerce membership, the 14 votes cast showed 10 for parallel and four for diagonal. The third expression of sentiment was that reported by the Ocean Beach News which last week published a questionnaire coupon. The coupons turned in were mostly by customers of the Newport Ave. business district, Publisher F. F. Swan reported, and the returns up to Wednesday noon this week show 45 voting in favor of diagonal parking and three for parallel.

Several of the local business men interested in parking attended the directors meeting and joined in the discussion. At the close, the directors decided to turn the results of the various expressions of sentiment over to the proper city officials. The next move, it was pointed out, will be up to the city to decide the matter and then go ahead with the necessary painting of parking lines on Newport.

The directors also decided to recommend to the city that the parking of long trucks on Newport Ave. be eliminated as far as possible and that truck drivers be required to use the alleys, both of which recently have been paved, for the delivery of goods to the local stores.

Under the head of committee reports, Milton Lancaster and Harry Masters of the beach improvement committee reported on their efforts, the reports being similar to those made at the July 7 membership meeting, publication of which was made in last week's issue of The News. The committee, it was decided, would push the campaign, with the hope that something concrete can be worked out and in use by August 1, for the benefit of users of the local beach for the remaining two months of the 1947 beach season.

Lancaster also reported on activities of the membership committee, of which he is chairman, and Chairman Arnold Morss of the Community Activities committee said his group will be at work the next few weeks on preliminary plans for this year's Christmas street decorations and that he would report the plans at the next directors meeting in August.

Dick Hilmen officiated as secretary, Col. Rolin Shaw being absent on account of undergoing physical check-ups at the Naval hospital.

MacLean Wilson, a Former Resident Here, Dies at 63

MacLean Wilson, 63, a former resident of Ocean Beach at 4430 Del Monte Ave., and a leader in various civic and religious organizations, was called by death Sunday in his home at 4160 Illinois St., San Diego. He had been ill ever since moving from Ocean Beach several months ago.

Approximately 20 from the Ocean Beach Kiwanis club, of which Wilson was an outstanding member, drove to the Lewis Colonial Mortuary on El Cajon Blvd. and attended the funeral services held Monday forenoon. Two of them, Myron Insko and Dr. I. W. Parks, were listed among the honorary pallbearers. Rev. Orno E. Tyler of the First Presbyterian church of San Diego, in which the decedent had membership, officiated and paid high tribute to Mr. Wilson.

The body was sent to Binghamton, N. Y. for burial. His birthplace was Scranton, Pa. on June 21, 1884.

Mr. Wilson was president of the Directors' Board of Goodwill Industries of San Diego the last eight years. He was a past president of the San Diego County fair and for many years had been active in civic affairs. He had traveled throughout the world and resided in Australia from 1921 to 1925.

In years of membership, Mr. Wilson was known as California's oldest Kiwanian. He was a past lieutenant governor of Kiwanis 11th district. He was a past master of the California Grange and a member of Montrose, Pa., I.O.O.F. Lodge.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Mary Jane Wilson of San Diego; his mother, Mrs. Nellie Orr Wilson; three brothers, Thomas, Kenneth O. and Donald O. Wilson, and two sisters, Marion Orr Wilson and Mrs. Margaret Loring, all of Binghamton.

Local Speedboat Owners Win Honors At Fiesta Races

Several of the Ocean Beach members of the San Diego Yacht Club participated in the boat races at the Pacific Beach Fiesta Saturday, July 12. Al Luallin of 1977 Venice St., who is commodore of the yacht club, won the stock speedboat race in his "Sun Tan," with Bud Jennings of 4311 Newport placing fourth in the "Gay Wings," owned by John Babcock, also of Ocean Beach. Mr. Jennings won the hopped-up speedboat race in the "Daphne," and Mr. Luallin placed third in his "Sun Tan."

Following the races, the Fiesta committee entertained the club members with a weiner roast, after which the sail boats, aglow with colored lights, sailed out on the bay for the Moonlight Water Parade.

O. B. Community Center News

(By John Wood)

Increased interest in the summer schedule of planned activities is evidenced by the numbers of residents of the community who are participating in ceramics classes, family night, gym classes for women, and classes in handicraft, folk dancing, and tap dancing. Further information regarding class schedules, which have been previously announced, may be had by calling Mrs. Lois Deason or John Wood at B-1175.

The spotlight for activities for July is being focused upon the Talent show, to be held on Monday, July 21 at 7:30, in the auditorium at the Community Recreation Center on Santa Monica near Ebers. Boys and girls of elementary, junior high, and high school age will present a program of vocal and instrumental music, with dancing and other specialty acts. All boys and girls are invited to fill in an application blank at the Center for participation in the program. Applications will be received until 3 p. m., Monday, July 21. Winners of the Talent show will represent the community at the district show, from which winners will be selected to compete in the city-wide finals. The Talent show will be open to the public, and, like other events sponsored by the City Recreation department, will have no admission charge.

Officers for the coming season were elected by the Drama club at a recent meeting. June Blackett will serve as president; Virginia Davis, vice-president; Lorraine Morrison, secretary; Jerry Suchan, treasurer; and Donna Seibert, publicity chairman. A review of Our Town was presented at the last meeting. Any interested teen-ager is urged to become a member of the group.

Several games have been held for the boys' ball teams. The junior high-senior high team is leading their league, and the elementary boys have won one and lost one game.

Teen-agers from the Center will be represented at the Stardust picnic to be held at Presidio Park at 4:30 p.m. on July 25. Dancing will be held after the picnic at the Presidio Recreation Center. The teen-agers Stardust orchestra will provide music for dancing. Any teen-ager may attend.

Some interest has been shown in the organization of a childrens' chorus, but work on the project has not begun because of the lack of a director for the group. Any person who will be interested in volunteering his services as director is asked to contact one of the directors at the Center.

Two age groups of boys and girls will be represented in the pingpong tournament which will begin on July 21 and end on July 26. Boys and girls 14 years old and under will compete among themselves, as will those of the 15 to 18 year old group.

Frederick S. Thorpe Jr. was born July 9 to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Thorpe of 4947 W. Pt. Loma Blvd. At birth he weighed seven pounds, seven and a half ounces.

Pads Fight Toward First Division In Battle With Solons

Heated baseball rivalry between the San Diego Padres and the Sacramento Solons continues each evening through Saturday at Lane Field with Sunday's double header set for 1:30 p.m.

Sacramento is battling desperately to keep in the first division, while the Padres who started the week only 2 1/2 games out of the select circle have won four straight and are likewise putting up a terrific scrap to get back in the money, winning by a 5-4 score Tuesday night and 8-3 Wednesday night.

If Manager "Rip" Collins' Border Bandits can keep playing the type of ball they unleashed against Portland Sunday and against the Solons this week, they'll gain a lot of ground in the Pacific Coast League standings these next few weeks. Big Max West had a large week against the Beavers hitting .393, batting in 11 runs and hitting five home runs. His three homers Sunday tied Ted Williams' Padre record of 23 which he racked up in 1937.

Lefty Tom Seats came along with three triumphs in the Portland series to tab himself as the Padres' steadiest moundsman of the year. Seats, who had previously dropped six on run decisions, has now won his last six starts.

Bob Hamilton, the Padres' versatile utility performer, also enjoyed a good week against Portland collecting 11 hits, five going for extra bases. Hamilton is filling in for Pete Coscarart at second base. The latter is expected back into action this week.

Dain Clay, deer-footed centerfielder, added two more stolen bases to his string and now leads the loop with 28. He is out to set a new Padre record in this department. Eddie Wheeler stole 43 cushions in '44 to establish the present mark.

Carrying no odoriferous souvenirs of their fishing trip, but slightly sheepish about their unsuccessful angling, "Dad" Burdine and Gene Shaw returned July 11 from Mammoth Lake. The unseasonal cold and singularly uncooperative fish had them licked. That seems to be their main alibi, according to "Dad."

St. Anne's Circle Announces Unique "Phantom Party"

St. Anne's Circle of Trinity Episcopal church is not leaving it all to the movies to deal in spirits, phantoms and what have you. These up to the minute Ocean Beach women, evidently in order to add variety and maybe spice to their raising-money-for-the-church campaigns, have hit on the idea of a "phantom dinner party." Except for the sponsors, for the date and for the cash money that they hope to obtain, the whole party is without form or substance, they inform The News. The date set is Sunday, July 20, and a unique invitation in the form of verse has gone out to the friends of Trinity church of Ocean Beach with the wording as follows:

"Down Memory Lane, through Friendship Gate
You're asked July 20 to Dinner at eight.

BETHANY JR. LEAGUERS ENJOY OUTING ON STRAND

By Richard Wenzel

The Bethany Junior League enjoyed an outing on the Silver Strand in Coronado Saturday. The group met at 11 a.m., and held a brief meeting, with Chairman Mary Dee Clark presiding. The counsellor for the day was Mrs. Martin Lankow, assisted by Mrs. A. Wenzel. Fourteen Leaguers attended the meeting and outing.

Royal Neighbors And Thimble Club Will Meet Today

Ann Cordingly Camp of Royal Neighbors have scheduled their second meeting for July, to be held tonight (Friday) at the Ocean Beach Woman's clubhouse, Bacon & Muir. Mrs. Florence Tanner, the camp's oracle, who will preside, reports that no special program is planned for this meeting. At the close of the evening, however, refreshments are to be served by a committee consisting of Barbara Bois and Mary Fold.

The camp's Thimble club also is scheduled to meet at noon today (Friday), also at the Woman's clubhouse. Pot-luck lunch will be served, to be followed by the usual regular session.

Entertains Past Oracles

Mrs. Mary Fold was hostess to the Past Oracles' club of the Royal Neighbors in her home, 2345 Seaside St., Thursday evening, July 10. After a short business session a social hour was enjoyed. The prize of the evening was won by Lottie Fried. Others present were Ella Dawson, Nora Walker and Florence Danner.

Mrs. Ritchey Holds Housewarming For Sixty-eight Guests

To celebrate the completion of her new patio and guest wing, and to show her appreciation to all those who contributed time and labor to make it a reality, Mrs. Perry Ritchey invited 68 guests to a housewarming party in the new patio July 13. The gathering was quite informal, she said.

First to occupy the new guest wing will be Col. and Mrs. Karl Polifka of Montgomery, Ala. who are expected to arrive tonight, July 18, for a two to three day visit with Mrs. Ritchey. Col Polifka is well known in Army circles for his aerial photographic work.

Vern Lee Quillen, 11, underwent an operation for tonsilitis yesterday (Thursday) at the Oster clinic in Ocean Beach. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Quillen of 4470 Santa Monica.

DIAGONAL VS. PARALLEL PARKING

Since everyone else seems to be shouting their ideas about the Newport avenue parking question, this newspaper might as well jump on a soapbox and let go. The unofficial poll which we conducted last week, using the columns of this paper and our Shoppers Guide, has evidenced that the people of Ocean Beach are overwhelmingly (45 to 3 at the last count) in favor of diagonal parking.

In three other polls that have been taken here following were the results:

Ocean Beach Kiwanis club Tuesday evening voted 18 to 16 in favor of parallel parking.

The July meeting July 7 of the Chamber of Commerce, 14 voting, voted 10 to 4 in favor of parallel parking.

A petition circulated in the Newport Ave. business district during the past week totaled 114 signatures all in favor of diagonal parking.

Frankly, we are inclined to side with this majority of the people of Ocean Beach, who are the ones who have made and will continue to make the Newport avenue business district what it is. The first and least compelling argument in favor of diagonal parking is that this system is now in effect, and a change would entail everyone's adjusting to that change.

Now for the more concrete arguments:

The women in about 90 percent of the homes in this area do the buying for their families, and, all credit to the ladies' driving ability, they cannot and never will be able to spin a car into a parallel space as fast as a man, and we have seen plenty of men spend as long as 15 minutes, punctuated with much swearing and fender scraping, trying to get a car alongside a curb. Convenience of parking probably has more to do with the success of our business community than any other one factor, and yet the advocates of parallel parking would take away that convenience and supplant it with a system which not only is difficult but would decrease the number of cars which can be parked on the avenue.

Which brings us to the clinching argument against parallel parking. Even the advocates of this system admit that it would cut down the number of cars that could be parked on the three main business blocks of Newport by over 300 a day (figuring 25 fewer cars per block and four cars per day to each parking space). The parallel advocates argue that cars could proceed faster down Newport with their form of parking. It seems to us that we don't want to make a speedway of Newport avenue. They also say that parallel parking would give Ocean Beach a big city atmosphere. It is our opinion that if the traffic confusion, inconvenience and congestion of downtown San Diego is the big city atmosphere, we don't want any.

That sums up our arguments, although we could advance some more if we thought it was necessary. Think it over, people of Ocean Beach, and let us know your opinion.

Club Expects New Law Will Double Insured Car Total

The Automoblie Club of Southern California today predicted that three out of every four California cars in operation on the State's streets and highways by 1950 will be covered by adequate liability insurance as a result of the new Safety Responsibility Act, which became law this week with the signature of Governor Earl Warren. This will approximately double the number of insured cars now in California.

Under provisions of this new measure, which becomes effective July 1, 1948, California motorists who are involved in accidents resulting in injuries or deaths, or in which damage to property is in excess of $100, will be required by law to deposit security to cover the amount of all claims registered against them in addition to submitting a written report of such accidents within 10 days to the Department of Motor Vehicles. The department will determine the form and amount of security and will be authorized to suspend the driver's license of all those involved persons who do not carry appropriate liability on their cars, or cannot post adequate security.

The Club declares that similar measures are now in operation in New York, Illinois, and in 15 other states.

"New York has set a good example of the effectiveness of this type of legislation," the Club points out. "There the percentage of insured motorists increased from 30 percent to 70 percent within a period of three years after the enactment of the law."

Mrs. Jo Allen Wasserman of the Ocean Beach Woman's Club crafts group made a clean sweep at winning prizes in the crafts exhibit at the County Fair. Mrs. Wasserman's work took two first places, two seconds and a third. Her entries included two card cases, a small purse and a billfold, all handmade and tooled from leather. Mrs. Wasserman's success is even more remarkable in that she has been engaged in leatherwork for only a short time. "We are very proud of her," reported a spokesman for the craft group.

time for the opening of the next school year.

The three Scouts left Saturday for Camp Josepho in Santa Monica where they will undergo training and mobilization into Jamboree Troop 17. After three days there they will embark for Camp Kilmer in New Jersey and camp with the American contingent for four days.

On July 24 they will sail from New York and arrive at Antwerp, Belgium on August 2. After visiting Holland and Belgium they will arrive at Moisson, France, for the Jamboree to be held August 9 to 22.

After spending a day in Paris, France, they will leave on the 22nd from LeHavre and arrive back in New York August 30.

The Army Transport Service, by act of Congress, has chartered to the American contingent the transport "General Muir" to take the Scouts to Europe and return. The "General Muir" will stand by in Antwerp harbor so that the Scouts can use the ship as a hotel while taking trips into Belgium.

Because of the excellent accommodations and food on the Army Transport, the American Scouts will not call upon European countries to furnish food except during the Jamboree. The French government has guaranteed food for this period.

tendance. A pot-luck dinner was served, to start the evening. Mrs. D. C. Muchmore, chairman of the committee, presided.

Wood's figures on attendance showed 5,232 for April, 8,456 for May, 7,173 for June and 2,130 thus far in July. Of the total of 22,991, 10,779 were boys, 8,523 were girls, 2,040 were women and 1,649 were men.

Reports of the activities of the Center were given by the various representatives of the City Recreation department and by the two directors of the local center, Mrs. Lois Deason and John Wood. Details of these numerous activities, as well as announcements of coming events, are to be found in two other news stories in this issue of The News.

Chairman Muchmore also called on representatives of other organizations to report on activities in behalf of Ocean Beach youth. She called on Jack Stevenson of the Kiwanis club, who gave a report of the recent Crackerbox derby and on Arnold J. Morss, who spoke on the third annual Hallowe'en parade to be held this fall. The Legion Woman's Auxiliary and the Baptist church also reported on youth activities being carried on by their groups. Mrs. Muchmore sugested that the Recreation Center likely could put on a carnival to entertain the children following the street parade on Hallowe'en. A motion then passed that plans for such participation be made by the Community Center committee on recreation. This committee, as named at the first quarterly meeting in May, consists of Mrs. E. P. Olson, Dave Chandler, Clarence Swenson, Mrs. Frances Curry, Glen Smith and Miss Vesta Petersen.

Rev. Paul Biesemeyer of the Pt. Loma Methodist Church will leave Saturday night for Camp Cornell, near Julian, where he will teach a class of junior high school students in the Methodist summer camp. He will be gone a week. Harry Coffin of San Diego will fill the pulpit at Pt. Loma this Sunday.

Letters on Parking

hour parking has gone into effect our tenants cannot park in front of their own house—much less their friends who might call. Why? Because the folks who work on Newport for the business houses and Post Office park solid early in the morning and leave their cars there all day. I ask you, is that fair?

Something should be done about parking facilities in Ocean Beach, butp parallel parking definitely is not the answer.

Anna C. Kerr (Mrs. Jas. W.)

Favors Parallel Parking

The second letter is from Mrs. Philip Sjoberg of 4619 Orchard Ave., who votes in favor of parallel parking. Text of her letter follows:

This is a good question!

We have been wondering when something would be done about it, as the condition is anything but good at present, without the white lines for diagonal parking as we formerly had before the street work was done.

For the merchants I would say diagonal parking was more to their advantage, as more cars can be parked in a given area, but then again I have always felt the street was rather narrow and often becomes congested from this type of parking.

Then again, with parallel parking you are going to have trouble with people double parking (particularly to run into the post office to mail a letter, etc.) who become disgusted with not finding a parking spot and just have a short errand to do.

Although this was not asked in the Shoppers Guide, I don't see why parking meters wouldn't help solve some of the trouble, in that the revenue could certainly be used. It is such a small amount to pay. It would prevent merchants themselves from taking the parking space in front of their own place of business, which could so readily be used by a customer, and yet it would keep the cars moving, to give other customers a chance to park within distance of their desired shopping area.

There are two very definite sides to this question, but I believe we all want to better Ocean Beach in every way possible, from the standpoint of beauty as well as efficiency, etc. In view of this I submit my vote for parallel parking, to give a cleaner and neater appearing street with a direct view down to the ocean as well as a nice view up the hill. I think we will have the same number of shoppers, but they may find it necessary to change their time of shopping somewhat to find parking space where they desire it, and I think more shoppers will use the parking lots available in the area.

Mrs. Tina Molina and daughter Elsie left Saturday for their home in New Orleans, after a two weeks' visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Liekweg, 4664 Green St. The Liekwags report that their guests were much impressed with Ocean Beach and would like to make their home here in the future.

By MARIAN KRETTLER

Mrs. Julia T. McGarvey and the writer had the privilege of acting as judges in the whiskerino contest held at Pacific Beach last Friday evening. Mrs. Zill, president of San Diego County's Federation of Woman's Clubs, acted with us along with a resident of La Jolla, whose name we didn't catch.

When over two hundred male citizens of Pacific Beach, each adorned with his individual idea of handsome whiskers, lined up before us, the situation was mighty confusing. It was easy to select the most glamorous contestant, a handsome man, dark and with glistening hair and beard. It was a cinch to find the heaviest beard, as firm and thick as a hair mattress, and Fred Renneker told us that this latter contestant decided on beard-raising a week after his fellow Pacific Beachers had started.

The blackest beard belonged to a man who looked just like General Grant. A pilot, so Mr. Renneker told us later, who was still suffering from injuries incurred in the late war. You would not realize that, to see the way he entered into the whiskerino contest with vim and vigor.

The reddest and the longest whiskers won prizes. And then, the judging really became difficult. The first prize went to a sinister-looking male in top hat and long black cape. The villain in the later presented version of the "Drunkard" won fifty bucks for his Mephisto getup. Gosh, I'd hate to meet that chap in a dark alley.

Mrs. McGarvey is a good newspaper woman, but she isn't so hot when it comes to picking whiskers. Sent out among the whiskered ones to select a "leg 'o mutton," she returned with something else. Well, the leg 'o mutton was unfamiliar to me too. Used to call them "mutton chops," those widely spreading sideburns. We caught an authentic mutton chopper later in the proceedings.

Seems I've done most everything in my time, but I never thought I'd be called upon to grab perfectly strange men by the whiskers in order to see if they were real or phony. I did just that, Friday night, and who wonders if beards and goatees, disembodied from their original possessors, floated through my sleep that evening.

Fred Renneker was the moving spirit throughout the Pacific Beach fiesta, although he modestly disclaims personal honor. He was abetted by upholding fellow citizens and the whole fiesta served to bring Pacific Beach together as a hard working unit for the betterment of the area. Fred had nice whiskers himself, "Foxy Grandpa" he was affectionately named for his graying hirsute adornment.

Fred, long our personal friend, passed out razors to the prize winners, and told us he had been doing well on five hours sleep during the fiesta. Also, he let us in on a bit of skullduggery which I don't consider quite fair.

It appeared that a Pacific Beach druggist, Mr. McIntire, had grown a set of whiskers, but was caught by local barbers, shaved, and fined for being beardless. Well, the two seemed to still be friends, so I guess the whole thing just went to community welfare.

You'd think the local barbers would suffer during this abstinence from shaving. Not so, said Fred. Seems you have to go in for a trim every few days in order to keep whiskers neat, so the barbers really reaped a harvest at seventy-five cents per trim.

I don't think that whiskerino contest was good for my husband. "How do you think I'd look with a beard?" he queried after our return home.

"Horrible," I replied. And that settled that. When those boys at Pacific Beach shaved off their luxuriant beards, they may have the innards for a mattress factory, but none of that for mine. And I consider it justly fair that the wives of the whiskerinos were granted the major portion of the money prizes. They deserve it, after gazing at their mates through a hairly jungle for weeks on end.

Local Dramatists Score Hit in Play 'My Sister Eileen'

By CLAIRE HOLLOBAUGH

"My Sister Eileen" was received by enthusiastic audiences last Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights when the Footlights Theater presented the gay comedy at the Roosevelt High School auditorium. Of special interest to Ocean Beach was the fact that three former Point Loma students held important positions in the cast — Laurel Clarke, Joan Holly and Harry Shannon.

The three-act comedy by Fields and Chodorov, based on Ruth McKenney's book of the same title, is the second play to be given this season by the Footlights Theater.

"My Sister Eileen" deals with the struggle of two Columbus, Ohio, girls in New York City and their encounter with the housing shortage, and ex-Georgia Tech football player, a loquacious landlord and many more characters to boot. It all adds up to an evening well spent in watching a growing theater group staging top entertainment.

Martha Shown, a State College graduate, played the role of Ruth Sherwood, the witty and very practical sister of Eileen. Though Miss Shown took over the part of Ruth only two weeks before opening night, her performance was outstanding and her timing good.

The role of the fascinating Eileen starred Laurel Clarke, a former Pasadena Playhouse student. Miss Clarke can be congratulated for making a clever character out of the rather straight role of Eileen. Her lines were well handled and her stage action exceptionally good, although her slightly high pitched voice became a little monotonous to the audience at times.

Andy Anderson, who took the part of the Georgia Tech football star, "the Wreck," did a beautiful character development.

The easy going Chick Clark, played by Harry Shannon, showed another good character development. Mr. Shannon, by portraying the effervescent Clark, only supplemented the repetition he gained in his Senior class play. Though he fell out of character during his bombastic scene in the second act, he gained his familiar footing in the third, and the audience reaction acclaimed him as one of the top players in the cast.

As the pretty but dumb would-be wife of the football player, Joan Holly made a convincing but brief performance.

To William C. de Lannoy and his production staff goes the credit of directing and staging a successful play. We'll anxiously await the next Footlights Theater production, "Joan of Lorraine."

man who answered my knock, "May I sleep in my roll on your porch, you see I usually sleep outside but it looks like rain and there are so many mosquitoes here?" The poor woman stood there staring into my face as if she were dumb, then sucked in air as if she'd lost it all from her lungs, "What did you say?" I explained further. She finally got over her shock enough to say, "Well! What an unusual request! The porch wouldn't be much protection from mosquitoes, the children (peeking round her) have the screens poked full of holes." I kept on talking, trying to make the idea seem at least half way reasonable to her. When she laughed and said, "My we've never had such a strange request! You took my breath away at first. I'll go ask my husband." I knew I'd won and besides having a place to sleep, I'd get to know another very nice family. By living with the people I get the feel of the place I'm in. It becomes a part of me.

I have so much I want to tell you. Louisiana is divided into parishes instead of counties.

I've wanted to tell you of my amazement when I first saw ships inland. There were plenty of ships at Houston, but they were at docks similar to San Diego—they didn't look unusual. It was at Port Arthur where I first saw the huge hull of a cargo ship outlined against the sky, with a low backdrop of houses and trees. I knew ships came inland but I had failed to ever imagine them thus. That first surprise still catches me each time the looming hulk of a ship—out of place as I see it—rises amid dwarfed town activities, or with a background of tree and houses.

Do you know that each city has a different smell? I have been noticing the various smells, along the way but didn't really think about them 'till I got to New Orleans. The musk of the French quarter really intrigued me the most. Damp, crowded brick buildings reeked of age. I poked my nose into dark patios and actually thrilled at their odor. Moss grows on decaying bricks and timbers. Plants sprouted from high crevices in the damp warmth. I didn't need a second breath to feel historical ghosts all about me. I heard their laughter, caught bits of conversation and glimpses of bright costumes. It seemed as though the air was old—as if it were the same air that stirred among the black slaves about their duties. I will never forget the smell of Vieux Carre. How sharply it contrasted to the dustry, dry, western youthfulness of Tucson, Ariz, or the briskness of Houston, Texas.

The close of Sunday June 22, found me at Paso Christian, Miss. As usual I just followed my nose to see what would happen and ended by choosing the Gulf sea-wall for my boudoir. I spread my woolen blanket on the eight stepped dyke. I was just two steps from the water. Just lose yourself in imagination and I will try to give you an inkling of the enchantment I felt as I relaxed there. Hear the caressing lapping of the wavelets, watch the shifting panorama of stars, clouds and moon. Now and again the lights are caught by the dancing water to glisten for a second. A lighthouse beacon down over the horizon flickers like a firefly. The tangy air tingles your nostrils and fills your lungs. The breezes hold back eager mosquito hordes. The warm smells of mother earth and sweet smells of nearby plants mingle, completing the stanza of Mother Nature's lullaby that folds gentle arms about you and hands you to a tranquil sleep.

I woke about 1 a.m. to find a storm swiftly brewing. Just as I reached a wall-less beach hut, with bike and bed, the torrents came. A wind blew rain through the hut and my blanket. Wet and cold I drowsily worked into my waterproof roll and slept, disregarding the pounding drops and thrashing storm. It was a fresh calm dawn that woke me again to continue my gypsy journey.

MRS. I. SARGENT OPENS SUMMER NURSERY SCHOOL

Last week saw the opening of a summer nursery school by Mrs. Irene Sargent in her home at 4926 Santa Monica. She entered upon the venture with the aid of her assistant Mrs. Mary Moeser. The play gamut runs from the zoo to the beach to excursions of all sorts to picnics and parties and to riding, swimming and tennis instructions for the older children. Little Jack and Jill are given their lunch, time for rest, and all the other sundry care they would receive at the hands of their conscientious mothers, plus the opportunity to meet and play with other youngsters in their own age group, and the benefit of organized rather than random, play activities. The nursery is open every day except Sunday, reports Mrs. Sargent.

Barbee Emerges as Distinct Personality As Well as Successful Business Woman

By EILEEN KING

To hundreds interested in her work, "barbee' is a trademark, a going business, a remarkable technique. But first with anyone who meets her, barbee is a person,—a charming young lady christened Barbee Baynton, who likes animals, children, food in large quantities, her Sunday school class of six year olds, and anything created on a Mexican motif if the workmanship comes up to her high standards; who dislikes, with equal intensity, liquor, cigarettes, malts, antiques, and pork of any kind; a twenty-two year old who worries inordinately about her failure to achieve sophistication. She cannot, nor would she want, one supposes, to escape her extraordinary talent and its accompanying success and acclaim. These, however, are secondary adjuncts to a very positive personality. At 22, she is slight, dark-haired, energetic, and supremely poised. She is independent, possibly a little stubborn. And she began her almost legendary career with typical initiative.

The story of her first success has grown fantastically, but the facts are briefly these: for her brother's birthday she painted a plain necktie with the picture of his beloved horse on it. He wore it, it was admired, and a department store in Arizona asked her to contract with the management to produce others for sale. They were an immediate success, and "barbee," the business, was the inevitable result.

Her next commercial venture was with a private linen concern in La Jolla, for whom she painted napkins, tablecloths, etc. Then, with her brother-in-law, Edward J. Moore, who aranged her business affairs, she opened her own store in San Diego in January, 1946, and her own school in April, 1947. Moore is currently publishing her book of instructions on stencil cutting and design, as well as a weekly bulletin on her activities and additional stencil patterns.

Last Saturday she returned to Ocean Beach for a return engagement at Cord's Paint Store, where a few weeks ago her demonstrations were an outstanding success. Very soon it may be that the Beach will be gay with neckties, tablecloths, handkerchiefs and lots of other things, all painted in the barbee tradition by her enthusiastic followers here. They would be even more colorful if it were possible to inject them with a little of the inimitable barbee personality.

Mrs. J. Selasky of 4605 Santa Cruz and her mother, Mrs. R. T. Thorngran of 4537 Brighton, left Monday for a two months' visit to the East. They plan to vacation both in Michigan and Rhode Island.

Keys to the City Dept.: A warm welcome is extended to Mrs. Mae Jewell, temporarily living on Bacon St. who has come to Ocean Beach to make her home with other residents of the Beach. She is looking for a cottage or apartment in which to live permanently.

John H. Orrick of Bermuda Ave. left the bay Tuesday on board the newly commissioned fishing craft "Hornet" for a trial run, hoping to fish for three days. The converted landing barge was under repairs for several weeks at the home of the owner Carroll Fendal and John was a daily helper, as his mother can testify from the red lead and grease which came into her house each day. Those aboard besides the owner and John are Captain Jess and Engineers R. Arron.

Mrs. Katheryn Riggs of 4835 Saratoga Ave. who has been ill for the past two weeks with intestinal flu, has asked The News to extend her sincere thanks to Mrs. Charles Allen, Mrs. Lucelle Oberhellman, Mrs. Ed Blain, Mrs. Ruby Knauer and Mrs. Louis Fleetwood who have helped to care for her. She expressed great appreciation for the survival of the spirit of neighborliness in these friends.

The efficient young ex-Wac saw a truck rolling along without a driver. Trained for emergencies, she jumped on the running board and yanked the emergency brake. Then she started looking for the driver.

A man crawled out from under the rear wheel. "Is this your truck?" she asked. It was.

"Well, it was rolling down the street," she protested.

"I know," the driver exploded. "I was pushing it."

Papa Robin: "How did that speckled egg get into our nest?"

Mama Robin: "I did it for a lark!"

Too tired to walk:

Too tired to stay,
Too tired to go
Too tired to want,
Too tired to wish,
But never yet
Too tired to fish!

Doctor (meeting Mrs. Jones on the street): "How is your husband now? Did you give him the sleeping powder?"

Mrs. Jones: "Yes. You told me to give him the amount I could get on a dime, but as I didn't have a ten-cent piece, I used two nickles, and he has been asleep now for four days."

The trouble with a husband who works like a horse all day is that all he wants to do evenings is hit the hay.

Christian Science Lesson Theme 'Life'

"Life" will be the subject of the Sunday Lesson - Sermon in all branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston. The Golden Text is from Psalms: "The Lord is the portion of mine inheritance and of my cup: thou maintainest my lot. . . . Thou wilt show me the path of life."

John's Gospel reports that when Jesus asked for a drink the woman at Jacob's well answered, "How is it that thou, being a Jew, askest drink of me, which am a woman of Samaria? . . . Jesus answered and said unto her, If thou knewest the gift of God, and who it is that saith to thee, Give me to drink; thou wouldest have asked of him, and he would have given thee living water. . . . Whosoever drinketh of this water shall thirst again: But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life. The woman saith unto him, Sir, give me this water, that I thirst not."

On this subject Mary Baker Eddy says in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures:" "Life is, always has been, and ever will be independent of matter; for Life is God, and man is the idea of God, not formed materially but spiritually, and not subject to decay and dust." "It is this spiritual perception of Scripture, which lifts humanity out of disease and death and inspires faith."

Mrs. Myrtle Orrick of Bermuda Ave. will enter White Memorial Hospital in Los Angeles Monday, July 21 to undergo a major surgical operation. She expects to be home August 1.

Junior Leaguers, with many Point Lomans in the group, held their July meeting recently at Del Mar.

Mrs. Roscoe Hazard, 3443 Whittier St., will again open her garden of beautiful blue-ribbon tuberous begonias to the public when the Junior League sponsors their fifth flower show there Aug. 3 from 12:00 to 5:30 p.m. Proceeds will go to the fund that has been set up to finance an advance training course in psychiatric social work under Dr. Franz Alexander. The Junior League, through its partial support of a psychiatric worker at the local Children's Home Society of California, became interested in this plan to develop preventive mental mygiene services.

Mrs. Hazard's begonias number well over 800 and promise to be a delight to all attending the show.

On the committee in charge are Mmes. George Wick, Walter Broderick, Samuel Roberts and Miss Patricia Kelly.

"VIRGIL'S VIEWS"

Crime may not pay, but shopping at Virgil's certainly does as any one of 30 prize winners last Saturday night will tell you—not to mention the thousands of regular customers who save small fortunes there even though they don't win anything. Yessir! Last Saturday night, 31 people walked away from Virgil's with some kind of prizes tucked under their arms or toted by their husbands. Twenty-four of the prizes went for guessing how many pounds of All-sweet margarine were sold on Friday and on Saturday. A case of dog food went to R. R. Parmley of 2872 Homeland Dr., and a case of Swift's strained meats and a baby picture from Bonnie Jeanne's went to Judy Hall of 2116 Sunset Cliffs. Another one of those super-man sized breakfasts was toted home by the husband of Mrs. J. Kelso of 4754 Niagara, and Mrs. T. M. Cowan of 4754 Brighton won a Dutch lunch, complete with cokes and a $1 order at Virgil's delicatessen. A lucky fellow named J. T. Benesh who lives at 4955 Saratoga won a "company dinner", complete to 4 Swift t-bone steaks, but he didn't invite us.

Then when Virgil called for the most tickets, whom do you think won? Billy J. Lumin of, of all places, Chula Vista, had over 140 tickets and went home with a 15-pound Swift's Premium ham. We asked him how come he had so many tickets, and what do you think his Dad said? "We shop here all the time—have ever since Virgil cut his prices. Four or five families that I know of in Chula Vista come over here to do their marketing." Now you all know by this time that Virgil's prices are low, but did you realize that they are so darned low that it pays to drive all the way from Chula Vista to shop here? Why take chances in the rackets? A penny saved is a penny earned and you can "make your pile" just by saving your dollars by shopping at Virgil's. The only thing wrong with Bugsy Siegel was that he never heard of Virgil's.

Shoot the cannons! Sound the fanfare! Virgil's had the biggest week-end of its history last week, and everybody had loads of fun. Should have seen those guys with the calculating eyes sawing hunks off those 8 ft. bolognas. Some of 'em were pretty good too, Virgil gave away close to 80 lbs. of the stuff.

You folks must have enjoyed and appreciated the Swift's sale; so it's being continued through this week with more and better specials. Those famous Swift's meats are so won-derful and so very low priced that you can't afford not to buy them now. Veal chuck roast is only 35c lb. this week end, and sirloin steaks 57c. Doesn't seem possible that only a short while ago you couldn't buy them at any price. And for those of you who are on a limited budget try succulent short ribs for only 24c lb. These are unusual short ribs too. There's much more meat on them than there is fat. You know, all Virgil's meats are unusual in one respect. They are all the best and the cheapest in town. That combination is impossible to duplicate.

Bigger and bigger mobs are going into Virgil's all the time, and Virgil's streamlined service is making it easier for more people to shop faster. But your reporter has heard ugly rumors of instituting parallel parking along Newport. Horrible thought! The cars will have to park on top of each other for the customers to get within box-toting distance. And we hear a chorus of women drivers wailing loudly that they will have to spend the money they save at Virgil's fixing the dented fenders they get by trying to maneuver into those parking places. Anybody got a spare helicopter?

Note to all prospective bicycle riders, especially the younger set: Virgil's has on display one of the bikes Alber's Cornflakes is giving away each week to the fellow who sends in the most box tops. Look in the back, 'way up by the clock, and you'll see it. Also you can get the official contest blanks here. —Adv.
